WEALTH IN COPPER

W. E. BORTHICK RETURNS FROM LONG TRIP IN UTAH WITH GOOD REPORT

"It may seem a little out of the usual run of Glendale tourists to go through the fertile valleys of the State of Utah and to visit and enjoy the Mormon capital," said W. E. Borthick, of the Borthick Real Estate company, "but that was the trip we decided on taking this summer. We started out nearly two months ago, July 12, and soon found ourselves in Tooele, where we have friends. Mrs. Borthick accompanied me and we enjoyed every moment of the time we were away.

"Tooele is a great mining place. The copper mines there and at Garfield are among the largest in the country. At Garfield there is a force of 5000 men working in three shifts. The demand for copper has been great since the war began and those copper men have been reaping fortunes out of the conditions. By working the whole twenty-four hours they have been just able to keep pace with the demands for copper for munition work. The war has greatly benefited the mine owners there. These copper men are members of large corporations. They have plenty of capital at their backs and are certainly making enormous fortunes.

"After staying a time at Tooele, we traveled around seeing the country and fishing. We traveled about 200 miles by auto at this time and fished the Stover river a fine stream that has many Rainbow trout in its waters. The government hatcheries keep the streams well stocked. We traveled through the valleys of the headwaters of the river and found everything fresh and green and signs of prosperity everywhere.

"When we had fished to our hearts' content we went back to Salt Lake City and rested there. The city is beautiful, more beautiful than I had imagined; it has a fine park and fine streets. The people are alive, active and seem to be doing business all the time. I enjoyed my visit to the Tabernacle and specially enjoyed the fine music. The Mormons are thorough in every thing they do.

"From Salt Lake city we went to Fish lake, which is about 200 miles from the capital. It is a splendid fishing place. The trout we took ranges from 2 pounds up to 12½. They were of all varieties also. We had a very good time at the lake, which is of fair size. Many times we caught the limit. There seemed no end to the quantity of trout in the lake.

"Satiated with fishing we made many side trips to the valleys where we found a condition of prosperity that was satisfactory to behold. Those people are undoubtedly happy and content. They are great workers and seem never to tire. It would almost seem as though old Brigham Young had bequeathed them his spirit. However with all its many advantages I would never prefer Utah to our beautiful Southern California. We were glad to get home and to see once more beautiful Glendale nestling beneath its time-worn hills."

DEATH OF JAY HOMER STACY

Jay Homer Stacy of 1417 W. Second street passed away Sunday morning, after a brief illness. The immediate cause of death was uremic poisoning. Mr. Stacy was 32 years of age. He was a salesman with the Los Angeles Notion company. He leaves a wife and father and mother. His father and mother came from Kansas City about a year ago. They are Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Stacy.

Mr. Stacy had been resident in Glendale for seven years. He was an Elk, a Mason and a member of the Knights of Pythias. Interment will be at Inglewood cemetery. The funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Pulliam Undertaking company.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

SUMMER AND HALL WILL HANDLE DRY ISSUE WITHOUT GLOVES

Thrills that come only in the most strenuous of campaigns are promised for the debate between D. C. Summers and E. J. Hall at Glendale High School auditorium Monday evening. These two interesting speakers are to discuss the issues now before the people of California and both sides of this important subject are to be given in detail.

There will be no comebacks in this debate. The wets will have just as good a chance as the dries. The arguments which those who would keep California dry are wont to make will be given in a dialogue that keeps the audience on the qui vive all the time that the debate is in progress.

Those who are back of the plan say that both Hall and Summers are giving the campaign questions in a way that cannot be controverted. Many of the wet supporters have been interested in the debates and at all times the two men are willing to listen to arguments which may be advanced by those who are trying to keep California in the wet columns.

Who is responsible for the liquor business? This question will be settled for the people of Glendale on Monday evening. You will be surprised, however, to learn who really is responsible. Hall and Summers will tell all about this matter and they are not bashful when it comes to explaining in detail just who the guilty parties are.

The dialogue is like the 57 varieties. It is spicy and has enough ginger to make it real peppery. Those who are planning to attend are promised a vaudeville entertainment by men who are trained actors and who know just how to keep the throng interested.

MEETING OF N. P. BANKS POST

There was a large and interested gathering of the veterans of the N. P. Banks post, in the G. A. R. hall, Glendale avenue, Saturday afternoon. Among other important business a proposition was made to hold patriotic services for the Post and Corps, every Sunday afternoon. The proposition met with an enthusiastic reception and will be settled at the next regular meeting.

The following resolutions were adopted: "We the comrades of N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R., do appreciate most sincerely and truly our comradeship and are saddened when we are reminded of our broken ranks. Again and again we are called upon to witness the departure of our highly esteemed comrades, as in the case of the answering of taps by our beloved comrade Andrews. We know, however, that he fought a good fight and was ready to answer the call of the Master and has gone beyond the reach of suffering to the country where they never say 'I am sick.' By-and-by we will meet and greet him in 'The Land that is fairer than day.'"

"We members of N. P. Banks post do most heartily express our love to the family of our deceased comrade with due appreciation for the loving care given to the departed.

"C. R. NORTON,
"GEORGE W. SANFORD,
"REV. DR. J. H. HENRY."

A resolution of sympathy was also sent to Comrade Treat deploring the loss he had sustained in the death of his wife and offering him the profound sympathy of his comrades in his bereavement. The committee of condolence in this case consisted of Robert Taylor, Dr. Henry and C. R. Norton.

BRUSH FIRE SUNDAY NIGHT

The fire department was called out Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock, to what might have proved a serious outbreak. Some person had set fire to the brush in a vacant lot at the corner of Verdugo avenue and Colorado boulevard. The fire got a good start and alarmed the residents of the neighborhood. It was with some difficulty that Fire Chief Lankford got the flames under control. The burning of brush at that hour of night is a breach of the city ordinance dealing with that matter.

TEUTONS MAKE TWO FUTILE ATTEMPTS TO REGAIN LOST GROUND

The British are well consolidated in Ginchy and the attacks failed under the accurate fire of the British artillery. The British stormed the trenches and cleared them of their occupants, then retired before the heavy reinforcements sent forward by the Germans.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CONGREGATION CONSIDERS SITE FOR NEW CHURCH

At a meeting of the congregation of the First Lutheran church, held in the church, Sunday morning, after service, the matter of securing a convenient and suitable lot for building a church was brought up. The matter has been under consideration of the trustees and council of the church for some time.

The church at present possesses a lot at the corner of Fifth and Adams but it is the general opinion that the center of population is not at present gathering around that point and it is desired to find some other more suitable location. The Rev. R. W. Mottern, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting and placed the conditions before the people.

Mr. DeWitt Wise, of Los Angeles, who is a member of the church council of the First Lutheran church of Los Angeles, and has had a wide experience in church building, spoke on the advisability of selling the lot at Fifth and Adams and acquiring another in some central location. After some discussion it was moved by Mr. J. W. Imler that the trustees be instructed to see what arrangements can be made to dispose of the lot at Fifth and Adams and to acquire another lot. A definite report on the matter will be submitted to the congregation Sunday, Sept. 24.

AT CAMP BALDY

MISS FIELD DESCRIBES SCENIC POINTS IN SAN ANTONIO CANYON

Camp Baldy is proving a favorite resort for many Glendale people. Mrs. F. A. Field and Miss Field of 239 So. Kenwood street have just returned from a two weeks' visit at Camp. While there they met a number of old friends and made many new acquaintances.

The trip to San Antonio Falls though not so long as the Mt. Baldy trail is one of the most beautiful in the valley. From the Presbyterian camp it is an uphill climb for three miles. The falls are at an elevation of about 7000 feet and just below the "Narrows" on the Baldy trail. At first the way through the lower canyon is beside the stream and among the rocks, the last part is on a table land under beautiful pines, hemlock and spruce trees. The falls, quite different from others, are in an open canyon with few trees on the hill-sides. Lunch was eaten by the stream under the shade of mere shrubs.

Bear Canyon, which is the beginning of the long Baldy trail, is very picturesque. It is an extremely narrow canyon. By three o'clock the dark shadows gather and evening comes on quickly. In a deep, shady pool, just as we were passing, a small boy pulled from the water a trout of six inches or more, but there is very little real fishing.

Almost every visitor takes the trip to Ice House Canyon because an auto road runs to the entrance, saving a walk of two miles from the main camp. There are several beautiful cabins in the canyon, which is considered one of the coolest, for there is always a fresh breeze coming from the west.

One other short trip is of interest, the trail to Sunset Peak. It is a very easy climb of a mile or more to the Divide. There, to the right, a trail leads to Baldy Lookout, which certainly commands a view of all the surrounding country. This is a short climb but over sharp rocks and with a rise in elevation of over 2000 feet in two and one-half miles. The square white building where the ever watching forest ranger is searching for a hint of fire stands as a beautiful sentinel to all in the valleys.

From the Divide another trail to the left goes to Sunset Peak. It is quite a distance to the end, but beautiful views can be obtained from any point and reward the climber for any part of the distance he is willing to travel.

The sunset from the Divide is a gorgeous sight. The great golden ball sinks behind a sharp peak in a distant range of mountains far off to the west. The purple after glow has a glory all of its own.

Early one morning most wonderful views of the sunrise were obtained just a few minutes walk from camp on the road to Ice House Canyon. As the rising sun was viewed coming over the mountain top the rays in striking the trees on the crest gave a most fantastic and cloudlike effect to all the foliage making the skyline appear wrapped in mist. As soon as the beams broke through, the mirage passed away.

The trip up and down the San Antonio Canyon to Camp Baldy from Uplands is one of changing color and form. Everywhere in our grand Sierras one has a spirit of reverence for the goodness of God in giving us such a wonderful world.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Just forty years ago, on September 5th, 1876, the last spike was driven in the Southern Pacific's San Joaquin Valley line between San Francisco and Los Angeles. This marked the first railway communication between northern and southern California and was hailed as the opening of a new era of prosperity for the State. The importance of this improved transportation was made apparent by the rapid industrial and agricultural development following the completion of the line. Old Californians remember well the ceremonies attendant on this driving of the golden spike—the last spike—at Lang's station, in Soledad Canyon, north of San Fernando. Hundreds of the State's notables were gathered together there on that day to make an event of the occasion. Special trains were run both from San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Robert will soon be able to use his feet without the aid of crutches.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1916

CALIFORNIA ACTIVITIES

Apart from the ordinary production of fruits and of grapes California has many other products that are annually bringing in wealth to the State. When the date industry was first started in Southern California many laughed at the idea and others ridiculed it. It is now a recognized industry. There is one seedling garden in the Coachella valley five years old. It consists of twenty acres. A few of the earlier varieties are now beginning to ripen, but the high grade dates will not be ripe for from thirty to sixty days. They sell at from thirty cents to one dollar a pound. This one garden produces from 15,000 to 20,000 pounds. One Deglet Noor palm twelve years old has twenty bunches of dates averaging thirty-five pounds to a bunch.

Sunflower seeds are exceptionally fine everywhere this year. While the total crop of the United States in 1909 was 63,677 bushels, California yielded only 6855 bushels. In 1915 there was shipped out by one buyer, a total of 1275 tons, for which a sum of $76,500 was paid to the growers. Other growers marketed their own crops which amounted to 1500 tons; the price paid was 3 cents a pound.

The third largest yield of barley reported from any county in the United States comes from San Luis Obispo, which reports 115 bushels per acre from a field of 60 acres.

El Dorado County, Cal., showed the largest yield of white potatoes of any one county in the United States. This yield amounted to 790 bushels from a previously selected and fertilized acre in a potato field of thirty acres. The average yield of the entire field was 550 bushels an acre.

Santa Clara county will produce from 60,000,000 to 75,000,000 pounds of prunes, dried, this year. A growers' association is being formed. It will become a statewide organization. Five big sugar factories of Orange county are in full operation and the tests made are above normal. This season's crop will distribute at least $500,000 in the county.

California's total fish product for three months ending March 31, totaled 8,657,994 pounds. Los Angeles county supplied 2,376,353 pounds. Three million six hundred thousand oysters were supplied by San Francisco and San Mateo counties; while 44,000 pounds of clams came from San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties. Los Angeles county produced 16,675 pounds of mussels.

Perhaps the lemon growers of the State fared better than any other producers. Their crop was and is being harvested without any trouble and is fetching record prices. One consignment sold in Boston last week for $9 a box.

At San Francisco where the rain records extend back to 1849 all rain records for August were broken. On the whole California appears to be coming into her heritage. Farming is being conducted on scientific principles and the farmer is fairly prosperous and content.

AMERICAN FINANCIERS FOR CHINA

It will be remembered that the leading American bankers who were members of the so-called five-power group, which was interested in the financial welfare of China, withdrew from that group at the instance of the present administration. It is significant of what is thought of American financial ability that a request has come from Japan that these bankers return to the old combination and lend their aid to the reinstating of China in a sound financial position.

The five-power group as it was organized five years ago for the purpose of financing China consisted of the banking interests of Britain, France, Russia, Japan and Germany. Germany is of course now excluded from the group and many Japanese of standing are anxious to see the United States back again in its old position as a financial power in China.

This idea is being strongly advocated by the Jiji-Shimpo of Tokyo, one of the influential Chinese papers. Indeed it is said that the Jiji-Shimpo is something of a semi-official paper and that its opinions may be taken as representing the Japanese government on this important point.

Germany is regarded by the other four powers as a dangerous element in the financial group and it is hoped that at this, the most favorable opportunity, the United States will come forward and take its place. The United States is known to have no sinister designs on the Far East.

What China needs most at present is money. The country is on the verge of bankruptcy. Under the presidency of Li-Yuen-hung, the North and the South may come to terms, but even a united China will never be able to maintain peace within the country unless it has the wherewithal to keep the wheels of the government running.

It costs $3,000,000 a month to keep the governmental bureaus of China in good shape. There is no fund from which such a sum could be obtained. It might be obtained from the provincial governments but as they are in opposition to the government there is no saying how ends are to be made to meet. Naturally the only resource is a foreign loan. This can be obtained from the five-nation brotherhood of finance; but the four principal powers will never again admit Germany into that profitable coterie.

This says the Jiji-Shimpo is the opportunity of the United States and like all foreign powers, this representative of Japan is hoping that the month of November may bring about some change in either administration that may influence the United States to take a hand again in the politics and finance of China.

It is also well to remember that the four great powers have been straining their resources quite a little recently and that even Britain with all her resources is not in a position to finance China at this moment. Here is where the United States would come in handily to the rescue of the powers and would, incidentally, benefit herself. In the scramble that will inevitably ensue over the mori-

CARE OF THE BODY

O. H. JONES SAYS "KNOW THY-SELF" IS MOST IMPORTANT THING IN LIFE

This subject was inspired by a statement that was made recently in an address delivered by a public teacher, and was as follows: "We do not want better animals," referring to mankind.

The declaration is demurred to; and the demurrer is sustained. This subject has a fitting application at this time, following as it does close after the articles in which I showed that fifteen million of the school children in the United States were defective; that half of the children born in the United States die under fifteen years of age; and that it is the general consensus of opinion among scientists, and as shown by statistics, that the race is steadily going down physically.

These statements have not been made in a spirit of pessimism; but to show the actual condition of things as they really exist. It matters not whether man was created by direct act of the Creator, or, was evolved to the form and attributes through long ages of upward progression, until he reached the high estate in which we find him at the time when he first makes his appearance on the stage of the world's history.

In either event, it is evident from the record—and the record is the only thing we have to go by—that his was a state of physical perfection; and that he was endowed with physical powers that far surpass anything that he enjoys at the present time.

We must also assume that he was physically perfect. For he was the finished product of a perfect creation, and was included in the pronouncement "very good" at the close of the six day's work. He was given dominion over all created things on the new earth. He thus became the "Lord of Creation."

Dominion is defined "as Sovereign or supreme authority; the power of ruling or governing. What was man given dominion over? What was man's kingdom? And what were the subjects of his kingdom? His kingdom embraced the earth, the air, and the sea. He was given dominion over all animal life on the earth; the birds of the air, and the fishes of the sea. His subjects included all animal life on the land, in the air, and in the deep.

His kingdom was the animal kingdom; embracing all animal life on the land, in the air above the land, and in the waters surrounding the land; with mankind at the head of the kingdom. Men and women were the kings and queens of the animal kingdom; and also subjects of that kingdom—physically.

What was man when he was created? The record tells us that "the Lord God formed man out of the dust of the ground." And we know that the physical material body of man is composed wholly of certain elements of earthly matter. And we also know that our bodies are composed of the same earthly elements as the bodies of all the other orders of the animal kingdom are made of; that we breathe the same air; possess the same animal instincts—although in less degree—require the same elements of food to build and repair the body, and are governed by the same life forces as every other member of the animal kingdom.

The human race has always been classed by naturalists as belonging to the order of primates, and placed at the head of the animal kingdom.

Dr. J. H. Kellogg says: "The fundamental idea of the simple life is based upon the fact that man like all other animals, is subject to certain great biologic laws which rule his existence in the same inexorable way that gravitation acts upon the planets and the stars. The biologic laws which relate to man's well-being as a mammal and as a member of the family of primates cannot be ignored with any degree of safety any more than the air-man can ignore the laws of aerodynamics, or the sailor the principles of navigation. In law we live, move, and have our being; when by attempting to ignore the laws which especially relate to animal organisms we become out-laws and the same great principles of vital activity which support or maintain our lives becomes destructive agencies through which we become a prey to disease and premature decay."

Animal is defined as: "A sentient living organism broadly distinguished from a plant by incapacity to convert inorganic into organic matter; a sentient being.

bund body of the Chinese provinces there will be rich and rare pickings for those who are wise enough to get in now.

The United States, it is well known, has no desire to interfere with China's internal affairs and if this government should hold to that idea, Japan will fail to induce American bankers to have anything to do with a country where the United States will not protect their transactions by the weight of its influence. Japan is apparently anxious that foreign capital should come in and help to develop China.

Japan does a large trade with China and will do a much larger trade when foreign capital begins to come into the country. There are indications that such will be the case before long. Japan finds that the Chinese must have money wherewith to purchase Japanese goods. She therefore is willing to encourage the advent of wealthy nations into the field there.

distinct from inanimate matter and from vegetable life on the one side and from mental and spiritual existence on the other. Thus man is properly classified as an animal."

The physical body of man as we know it today fills all of the foregoing specifications.

We are aware that man held a very exalted station as the sovereign ruler of the physical world, and that he was endowed with attributes and powers which placed him in a class by himself, and gave him supremacy over the rest of creation. And we also know that he was on very intimate terms with the Creator. But, did these things make any difference, physically, between man and the rest of the animal world over which he ruled? That is, make any difference in the nature of the material physical body? Did man's exaltation change the nature of his material body into something different from the rest of the animal creation? We think not.

Has the physical, material, animal body and nature of man been changed in any way since creation?
No, only in so far as he has debased it by his own acts.

Therefore in the light of our present knowledge of man and his past history, we must arrive at the conclusion that man was created with a perfect animal body, and with the same natural desires, instincts, and passions—on the physical side of his nature—as all other animals. But at the same time, we are to understand that man was endowed with a higher order of intelligence which placed him in a higher class. And, while he possessed the same animal desires, passions, and instincts as his brother animals of the lower orders, he was endowed with attributes which enabled him to govern and control those desires, passions and instincts. He was endowed with a knowledge of good and evil; with judgment and discretion; and with a monitor to warn, and a will to direct, govern and control his desires, instincts, and passions. And it is these attributes that has raised him above what we are pleased to call the brute creatures, and distinguishes him from them.

The designation of animal is not,
and should not be used or considered as a term of reproach or belittlement. For the animal world with its swarming life, in so many varieties and so many different forms; its beauty, its intelligence, its wonderful constructive faculties as manifested in its marvelous activities, make it the most wonderful part of a most wonderful creation. And no one need feel ashamed of the fact that he is a part of the animal kingdom; but should feel highly honored that he forms a part of that glorious world.

While we may not feel proud of some of our relatives, it does not necessarily follow that we should try to deny our kinship. I presume that if some of the lower orders could express themselves, they would be equally adverse to owning kinship to some of the members who claim to belong to a superior race.

The fact remains, however, that,
in the natural world, man still stands, in name, at the head of the animal kingdom, with a material, physical, animal body just like the balance of the members of the animal kingdom; and is governed by the same physical laws that govern all other forms of animal life,—although he has lost dominion over that kingdom. The only dominion he exercises now is one of destruction.

To call a man an animal does not necessarily imply that he is either a brute or a beast, in the sense usually implied by the use of those terms to one who indulges in low beastial habits; but because the animal life is the lowest and rudest part of his being and that which he shares with inferior creatures, to call any individual man an animal is to infer that the animal nature has undue supremacy.

Keep the idea constantly in mind that I am writing solely about the physical, material, human, animal body and life of man, and nothing else.

Man was placed at the head of all created life and given dominion over all things. He was given a perfect, normal, healthy, animal body that was endowed with perfect physical powers that were good for a thousand years.

Sickness, disease and death were unknown. "And there were giants in those days."

But there came a time when men accounted to themselves wisdom, and they sought to improve the works of the Creator by amending the constitution and changing the by-laws. And each succeeding generation of kids as they thought they knew more than the old men, drifted away from the old landmarks; sought out new ways of living, and refused to follow what they called the old foggy notions of the fathers, about their manner of living.

What was the result? Instead of standing at the head of creation, they crashed down the old toboggan slide of time, and slid off from the tail into chaos. And we are still progressing in the same direction.
Instead of living a thousand years in health and happiness, more than half of those born, die before reaching the short period of fifteen years; and the balance are always on the road to the cemetery, with thousands of arrivals there daily. "And Rachel is weeping for her children, and will not be comforted, because they are not." And the earth is full of pain, sickness, disease and suffering. And diseases are multiplying till there is scarcely words enough to give them names.

We have an impressive lesson, on the physical condition of men in this country, in a comparative statement giving the number of men accepted and rejected, out of those who offer themselves for enlistment in the army and navy.

Take that grand army of young men of between three and four millions, which made up the armies of the North and South in the great Civil war from 1861 to 1865. There were but few rejections for physical causes, at the time of enlistment.
And now, after from two to four years' service in the field, and more than fifty years active work at home, we find many thousands of them in better physical condition today than many of the young men of about one-fourth their age. The young men of today who offer themselves for enlistment in the army or navy, can only get in by the skin of the teeth.

A short time ago I read a government report, giving the per cent of men accepted and rejected, out of each one hundred of those who offered themselves for enlistment in the army and navy. In the large cities of Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Boston, Chicago, and San Francisco, 81 out of every hundred were rejected. While the balance of the country got off with 79 rejections to the hundred. That is, only one out of five were found fit for military service. If we keep on the same rate of progress, where are our country's defenders coming from after we have taken the 19 or 21 into the army, and either killed, crippled, or debilitated them?

If I was a young woman I would be very, very proud of a husband and protector that the government would not take out for some one to shoot. "And yet we are told that 'we don't want better animals."

D. H. JONES, D. F. S.
480 W. Broadway.

wrongs by not only calling atten-

FACTS ABOUT AFRICA

Africa is four times the size of the Headaches—Never Have Any?

WELL, then, you're mighty fortunate. But—many of us do have them and sometimes, it seems, for no reason at all.

You must know, first of all, that headaches—no matter what form they take—are merely symptoms. They show that something is wrong somewhere. Where?—that's the question.

Headaches that go almost as quickly as they come show but a passing disturbance. Much more serious—much more painful—and much more perplexing are those chronic headaches that seem to come out of nowhere and are in no hurry to depart.

If you suffer from chronic headaches—if you have tried in vain to find out why and whence they come—the least you can do is to let Nature's curative agents reach the root of the trouble. Especially is this true of so-called nervous headache.

If your case is similar to that of many others who have been treated with gratifying results at this institution, you'll find a course of treatment here a decided help.

Treatment Rooms open 9 A. M. to 9 P. M., except Saturday. Trained Nurses of both sexes in attendance. For

ANTIQUITY OF CLOCKS

Clocks are so old that it is difficult for man to count their age, but it is certain that clocks of some sort, with wheels and weights, were in use as long as eight or nine hundred years ago. Before that people had measured time by sun-dials or noondials, telling the hour by the shadows cast upon the flat dial. After a while hour glasses were invented, two round glass bulbs which were connected by a tube; people put sand in one of these bulbs and, when it had all trickled into the other bulb, they knew that a certain space of time had passed. There were also water-glasses. Pendulum clocks were first in use in about the year 1650.

TAJUNGA

Mr. Bradford Blanchard

Again we are called upon to chronicle the passing of one of our citizens, Father Blanchard, who fell asleep last Thursday afternoon, August 31, 1916, at about 5 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ensign Woodruff of El Centro avenue, Tujunga. For three years Mr. Bradford Blanchard has gone in and out among us, always with a pleasant word and smile; his was a happy disposition. He was born in Vermont, March 13th, 1827, and would have been 90 years old his next birthday. From Vermont he went to Oswego, N. Y., to live awhile, but the West called and sixty-one years ago he removed to the middle west with his family of young children. He was a veritable pioneer of that region. He has been a resident of Wisconsin, also of Michigan and Dakota at various times. One son by his first wife preceded him in death. Seven children, five sons and two daughters, by a later marriage, are all living. For nine years Mr. Blanchard has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff. Their home for five years was at Long Beach but for the past three years in Littlelands, now Tujunga.

The funeral occurred at the Pulliam Undertaking parlors in Glendale, with Christian Science services conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Haskell of Long Beach. Mrs. George Benzville, also of Long Beach, rendered two appropriate solos. The casket was entirely covered with a wealth of beautiful roses, carnations and ferns, a token from the Colonial Club of Tujunga, of which Mrs. Woodruff is the president and director. Other beautiful gifts of flowers were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Van Batten at the home. Interment was made at Forest Lawn cemetery, Glendale, on Saturday morning, Sept. 2, 1916.

Tujunga Boosters

The executive committee of the Tujunga Boosters met Thursday evening of last week and elected Fred M. Ashby president, Charles Dean secretary-treasurer and advertising committee and D. C. Dean selling agent for land in Tujunga.

At the meeting of the association Saturday evening the town was divided into four districts with the intersection of Sunset boulevard and El Centro as the dividing line. The following members were appointed a committee to solicit new members: For the northeast section, S. Haverstick, F. Herrick, P. Heffleman; northwest, P. J. Blake, A. Bragnon, Ed Forster; southeast section, Miss Culver, Miss McKee, Mr. Costello; southwest section, Mrs. Woodruff, Miss Osgood, Miss Hatch. Circular letters will be sent out inviting people to join the organization.

Presidents of Valley Boards of Trade Meet With Supervisors at Los Angeles

Presidents P. J. Blake of the Monte Vista Valley Board of Trade, S. D. Percy of the Monte Vista Chamber of Commerce, F. E. Wilcox of the Pasadena Board of Trade and other officials representing commercial and improvement bodies throughout this valley and Pasadena appeared before the County Board of Supervisors Monday to plead in behalf of the retention of the forestry department as at present constituted and against the contemplated reduction in the levy for that department for the ensuing year. One half million young forest trees are being propagated by the forestry department in its nursery to be used in reforesting the barren mountain slopes which would have been a serious mistake to abandon for lack of an appropriation sufficient for the needs of the nursery and for the beginning of the work of reforestation next year. An effort was made by Supervisor Norton to prevent a discussion of the subject but Supervisor Hamilton, who is a Pasadenaan, loyally supported the reforestation project and succeeded in having a resolution passed permitting the representatives to be heard and the necessity for the continuation of the work was ably presented by C. D. Daggett of Pasadena, whereupon Supervisor Hinshaw, who is at the head of the division which conducts the forestry work, stated to the representatives that provision would be made for continuing the nursery but that certain branches of the forestry department would have to be consolidated with the road department in the interest of economy.

Until the importance of reforestation as a means in helping to check the flood waters and also to store the moisture in the earth until needed is better understood the people will continue to elect to office men who deem it wisdom to save a few thousand dollars in order to make a showing of economy, whereas in reality such a parsimonious and shortsighted policy is bound to reflect disastrously in flood losses alone to the tune of millions. A persistent campaign of education on the subject seems to be absolutely necessary and the spirit of co-operation manifested by the commercial bodies in this valley and those in Pasadena should be encouraged and expanded.

Town Meeting

Mr. Ashby announced a partial program next Tuesday when the Harvest Home Festival occurs. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock there is to be a flag raising, with music, followed by games for the children and contests. There will be an exhibition of products from the gardens. In the evening the people will gather for a big supper in Bolton Hall, everyone contributing bring plates, cups and knives, forks and spoons. In the evening there will be a literary and musical program. Different committees having the arrangement well in hand met after the town meeting for further conference.

P. J. Blake gave a report of the meeting of the different valley organizations with the supervisors. This will be found in another column. It was reported that improvements are being carried forward on Los Angeles street, the road is being gravelled and later will be rolled and thoroughly wet down, the water for which will be furnished gratis by the Western Empire company.

Boosting For Tujunga

Tujunga we've discovered has legends old and grand. And her mountains and her valley are the finest in the land. Be sure to come and see us from city and from shore. We'll tell you of her golden wealth and all her ancient lore.

—Chorus.

CHORUS

We are boosting for Tujunga, yes boosting right along. We are boosting for Tujunga, boosting five hundred strong.

—2—

If a ripe old age is wanted with contentment and with peace, At Tujunga buy a piece of land you do not want a lease. She has water, soil and climate found in no other clime. So come out here and live with us, then life will be sublime.

—Chorus.

Mrs. Sanborn and daughter, Miss Virginia, have returned to their place on North San Ysidro road, after spending the greater part of the year in Los Angeles. They will be here for some time.

Mrs. Mendelhall of the Zachau ranch has been suffering with a siege of hay fever for the past few days.

Miss Julia Culver is home from her trip to San Diego and La Jolla. She had expected to be away longer and had planned to go to the hills near Beaumont but suddenly changed her mind and arrived at Tujunga Saturday evening, very glad to be at home again.

Mrs. Malona, who has been visiting for several months with her people at South Bend, Indiana, very unexpectedly returned home Monday, thus surprising her husband, who was not expecting her before the last of the week, but on account of the threatened strike Mrs. Malona cut short her visit several days.

Mr. Fred M. Ashby and Miss Zoe Gilbert, the Tujunga postoffice force, spent the morning of Labor Day at Long Beach, where they witnessed the unusually high tide that occurred there Monday morning. After luncheon they came back to Los Angeles, where they attended the matinee of the Mission Play, which is showing this week at the Mason. They returned home about 6:30 in the evening, having had a most enjoyable outing.

Mrs. Hoffman of Stephen's Way entertained at a six o'clock dinner Thursday of last week. Her guests were John S. McGroarty, author of the Mission Play, Mrs. McGroarty and mother, Mrs. Lubrecht and Miss McHale. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Hoffman was the guest of the McGroarty at the matinee of the Mission play in Los Angeles.

Last Monday a merry crowd of young people, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mehard, motored down to Venice, where they spent the day at the beach enjoying the usual festivities of that resort. Those besides Mr. and Mrs. Mehard were, Misses Stella Wieman, Bertha Fehr, Gertrude and Edna May Van Batten, Margaret and Genevieve Lang, Messrs. Bruce Parmenter, Wallace and Don Wieman and Eagler of Sunland.

Miss McKee's comfortable cottage on San Ysidro road seems to stand in high favor with the management of the Alexandria Hotel of Los Angeles, as a place for resting and recuperating. First one, then another of the corps of managers of this popular hostelry come to this place to spend a week or two. They go away well pleased and recommend Miss McKee's cottage to others as a pleasant home-like resting place. Mr. Charles M. Frey, editor of the Alexander Topics, is at present occupying Miss McKee's cottage.

Some of the members of the Racquet club have been putting the tennis court into better condition for this popular game. A number of loads of gravel have been put on the court and the grounds given a thorough wetting down to render it compact; the tennis court has grown to be a favorite resort for many of our young people.

The Chase property on Cedar St. is occupied by Mr. Frank Fondelin of Sawtelle, who has been here for about a month and who expects to remain two months longer. He is here for his health. Many people come to Tujunga to recuperate and find the climate and scenery so attractive that they purchase property and become permanent residents.

LA CRESCENTA

Mr. Joizienne Escalle had a spacious screen porch built onto his bungalow on Michigan avenue by Mr. Wise last week.

Miss Dorothy Cookson is enjoying a short visit with one of her former school mates at Buena Park.

Miss Lena Krug recently arrived from Omaha, Neb., for a two-months' stay at Wilhems, her La Crescenta home. Heretofore Miss Krug has spent only the winters here, but now her many friends are glad to welcome her back to California in the good old summer time.

On Saturday, September 2, the party started from home at 4:30 a.m., reaching Switzers by 8 a.m. During the three-days' stay at camp, various side trips were taken. Monday morning Hardwick Van Degrift, Robert Horne and Lawrence Lester climbed Strawberry Peak and were very much enthused over this Alpine climb. Mr. and Mrs. Max Green and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Degrift chaperoned the party. Those that enjoyed the wonders of Switzerland were Katherine Hegeman, Helen Cooper, Rowena Green, Katherine Green, Henrietta Horne, Dorothy Lester, Fanny Jewett, Marian Laird, Clara Armstrong and Tyler Van Degrift, Marion Lea, Edwin Cooper, Lawrence Lester, Hardwick Van Degrift, Robert Cooper, Robert Horne and Willard Barnum.

The La Canada Valley Improvement Association held their regular meeting at the club hall, Saturday evening, September 2. It was moved and seconded that the Executive Committee try further to see if the bridge at Devil's Gate could be opened for our use. They are to report next meeting. Mr. A. C. Metcalf, on the violin, accompanied by Miss Joan Smalley on the piano, gave two very delightful selections.

Miss Lulu Green returned to Lang to take up her duties as teacher of the grammar school. Miss Green was the teacher last year and proved to be very capable of filling this responsible position that she has obtained the position for this year in the same school.

Miss Eleanor Dewey entertained a coterie of young ladies at her home on School street. The afternoon was spent in needlework and chatting and this was in the beautiful court, surrounded by trellis of wistaria and ferns. Delicious refreshments were served at sunset. SUNLAND

Hikers

Mrs. L. Johnson and Mrs. Daisy Reinhart and son started from Sunland for a trip through the canyons. They took the stage to La Canada and from their hiked to the Arroyo Seco, where they spent the day in Dark Canyon, returning at night tired and hungry to the home of a friend, Mrs. Marks. They slept on the ground under the skies just to look into the beautiful starry heavens, and enjoy all the pleasure of roughing it. After another day of hiking through the beautiful fern canyons they returned to Sunland Saturday and after a rest started for Rubio Canyon to spend Sunday with a friend and help celebrate her birthday. We think of the words of a Swiss Guide, "I love to be in the mountains; one has no evil thoughts there."

Directors' Meeting at the Chamber of Commerce

Messrs. Bohon, manager, and Stephens, agent, of the Glendale-Montrose Railway, were present by invitation and Mr. Bohon addressed the directors in regard to the present and future prospects of the railway. If there were any present opposed to the coming of the railway surely all were unanimous in agreeing that they never heard a fairer or more frank statement of the case and were disarmed by his friendly candor. The matter was discussed and a later canvass arranged.

Communications in regard to one-cent letter postage from the State fair management asking for co-operation were read. Also requests from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for co-operation in aid of State highway bonds. Reports of president of the action of supervisors on various matters, and the Secretary's meeting at Santa Ana by the secretary were heard. Delegates were chosen to meet with La Canada, La Crescenta and Tujunga at La Canada Saturday evening, to form a strong general body to work for the general interests of the valley, which finished the work of the evening.

In justice to myself and to clear up a very grave misunderstanding concerning the moving of the County library to the postoffice building I wish to publish the communication I had with our County Librarian, Miss Gleason. It seems a few people in Sunland without considering who they are injuring will start malicious and untrue statements in regard to matters they know nothing of. The few people have been struggling to keep up a postoffice in Sunland, which is paying the postmaster less than fifty cents a day and because the postmaster simply asked when it had been rumored that the library was to be taken away from Sunland, for lack of patronage, to have the library brought to the postoffice building, where a free reading room could be provided for and by daily service giving the laboring class a chance to get books and make it a more profitable institution, she should call down on her head all sorts of abuse and personal insults not only on her but on the few loyal members of the Chamber of Commerce who are fighting to keep the postoffice running, the profits of which are nothing in proportion to the service that is rendered.

Following is a copy of the letter written to the Librarian which when received was answered in person and arrangements made to move the library. After a few days a protest was made by a few not knowing the correct circumstances. These are the facts and I hope they will satisfy the kickers.

Sunland, Calif.

July 24, 1916.

County Free Library, Hall of Records, Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Madam:—I have been asked by members of the Chamber of Commerce if I would consider taking the County Library. I am writing to ask if you are contemplating a change? If so would it be possible for me to get it? I have a room in the building where the postoffice is located where the library could be nicely arranged. It was also suggested that we have a reading room in connection with the library. This could also be arranged for. I think I am in a position to give good service both to the County and community. Kindly let me hear from you.

Thanking you I am

Yours respectfully,

MRS. M. A. HUSE.

Mrs. Seymour and children of Redlands are visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. Johnson.

Mrs. Alfred Blumfield and children returned from a very pleasant outing at Hermosa Beach.

Mr. Harmer walks faster than ever—cause a new ten-pound boy is at his home, born Sunday night at 1:00 o'clock. This little new arrival is the third son. Congratulations.

Mrs. S. D. Percy and family have returned home from a month's outing at Long Beach.

A sad accident occurred on the trail in the Big Tujunga, when a loose boulder rolled down and hit Spencer Corey, who was working on the trail, on the head, knocking him unconscious and hurling him fifty feet in a canyon below. His companions who witnessed the accident say he turned four summersaults before hitting the ground, and no one expected when they reached him to find him alive. But he was found to be breathing, although unconscious. He was tenderly carried out of the canyon and a messenger dispatched to his parents at the Monte Vista Tavern, who immediately hurried Dr. Thompson up the canyon to meet him. He was brought to the Tavern and the doctor found three bones broken besides a number of flesh wounds and bruises. The doctor set the bones and dressed the wounds and took him to the hospital at Burbank where he is being carefully looked after. Spencer is such a strong, clean healthy boy we have every reason to think he will pull through. But he had a very close call. Last reports he was resting nicely.

UNWILLING TO ABANDON CAT

One of the most touching of the war stories is that in an English humane journal of a young soldier, ordered to another section of the war, who, returning to the trenches for a cat he had befriended and to which he had become greatly attached, found his pet watching at a rat hole. As he stooped to take it up a shell destroyed both him and his pet. Had he been willing to abandon it he would have saved his own life, at least for the moment.
